Pensionomics 2014:

Measuring the Economic Impact of DB Pension Expenditures

Key Findings

Benefits paid by state and local pension plans support a significant amount of economic activity in the state of Kentucky.

Pension benefits received by retirees are spent in the local community. This spending ripples through the economy, as one person's spending becomes another person's income, creating a multiplier effect.

In 2012, expenditures stemming from state and local pensions supported...

- 41,641 jobs that paid $1.6 billion in wages and salaries
- $5.4 billion in total economic output
- $720.1 million in federal, state, and local tax revenues

... in the state of Kentucky.

Each dollar paid out in pension benefits supported $1.67 in total economic activity in Kentucky.

Each dollar "invested" by Kentucky taxpayers in these plans supported $5.94 in total economic activity in the state.

Overview

Expenditures made by retirees of state and local government provide a steady economic contribution to Kentucky communities and the state economy. In 2012, 141,312 residents of Kentucky received a total of $3.3 billion in pension benefits from state and local pension plans.

The average pension benefit received was $1,920 per month or $23,038 per year. These modest benefits provide retired teachers, public safety personnel, and others who served the public during their working careers income to meet basic needs in retirement.

Between 1993 and 2012, 28.11% of Kentucky's pension fund receipts came from employer contributions, 19.60% from employee contributions, and 52.29% from investment earnings. Earnings on investments and employee contributions—not taxpayer contributions—have historically made up the bulk of pension fund receipts.

Impact on Jobs and Incomes

Retiree expenditures stemming from state and local pension plan benefits supported 41,641 jobs in the state. The total income to state residents supported by pension expenditures was $1.6 billion.

To put these employment impacts in perspective, in 2012 Kentucky's unemployment rate was 8.3%. The fact that DB pension expenditures supported 41,641 jobs is significant, as it represents 2.0 percentage points in Kentucky's labor force.

Economic Impact

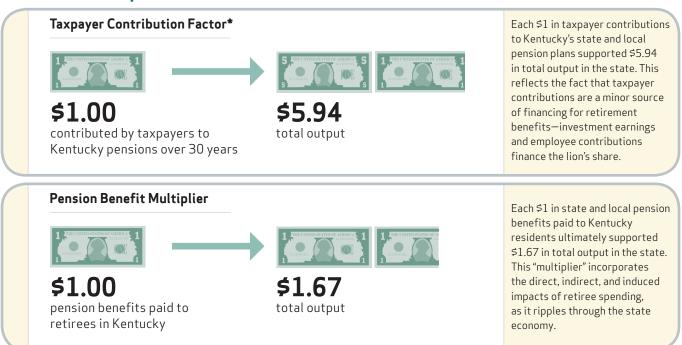

State and local pension funds in Kentucky and other states paid a total of $3.3 billion in benefits to Kentucky residents in 2012. Retirees' expenditures from these benefits supported a total of $5.4 billion in total economic output in the state, and $3.0 billion in value added in the state.

$2.9 billion in direct economic impacts were supported by retirees' initial expenditures. An additional $1.5 billion in indirect impact resulted when these businesses purchased additional goods and services. $1.0 billion in induced impacts occurred when workers employed by businesses as a result of the direct and indirect impacts made expenditures.

Total Economic Impact $5.4 billion

DIRECT IMPACT | IMPACT | $1.5 billion | $1.0 billion

Economic Multipliers

^{*}Caution should be used in interpreting these numbers. See the Technical Appendix of the full Pensionomics report for details.

Impact on Tax Revenues

State and local pension payments made to Kentucky residents supported a total of $720.1 million in revenue to federal, state, and local governments. Taxes paid by retirees and beneficiaries directly out of pension payments totaled $32.5 million. Taxes attributable to direct, indirect and induced impacts accounted for $687.6 million in tax revenue.

Total	$720.1 million
State/Local Tax	$323.5 million
Federal Tax	$396.6 million

Economic Impacts by Industry Sector
